No. CV-17-02794-PHX-JAT

ORDER

15 Pending before the Court is Defendants’ Joint Motion to Dismiss, (Doc. 10), and 16 Plaintiff’s Motion to Remand. (Doc. 18.) Both parties have responded, (Docs. 18 & 19), 17 and replied, (Docs. 19 & 22).<sup>1</sup>

18 I. Procedural Background

19 On July 20, 2017, Designee, LLC (“Plaintiff”) filed this contract action in 20 Maricopa County Superior Court, alleging conspiracy, unfair trade practices, 21 unconscionability as to liquidated damages, and failure of fundamental assumptions.
22 (Doc. 1-2.) Honda Aircraft Company, LLC (“Defendant Honda”) and Cutter Aviation 23 Southwest, L.L.C. (“Defendant Cutter”) (collectively “Defendants”) removed this action 24 to federal court, citing federal question jurisdiction, on August 18, 2017. (Doc. 1.) On 25 August 23, 2017, Defendants moved to dismiss. (Doc. 10.)

26 On the same day, this Court ordered briefing on the issue of subject-matter 27

28 <sup>1</sup> This Court retroactively modified the names of docket numbers 18 and 19 to reflect the dispositive dispute surrounding subject-matter jurisdiction. (Doc. 21.)

1 jurisdiction. (Doc. 11.) On September 6, 2017, Plaintiff submitted its Response to 2 Motion to Dismiss. (Doc. 18.) On September 13, 2017, Defendants submitted their Joint 3 Reply in Support of Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss. (Doc. 19.) On September 28, 2017,
4 the Court retroactively deemed Plaintiff’s Response to Motion to Dismiss to also be a 5 motion to remand and deemed Defendants’ Reply in Support of the Motion to Dismiss to 6 be a response to the motion to remand. (Doc. 21.) Furthermore, the Court ordered 7 Plaintiff to file a reply in support of its motion to remand, (id.), which Plaintiff submitted
8 on September 20, 2017, (Doc. 22.)

9 II. Removal Standard

10 A defendant may, subject to certain restrictions, remove any civil action from a 11 state court to a federal district court that has original subject-matter jurisdiction. 28 12 U.S.C. § 1441(a) (2012). If the court is without subject-matter jurisdiction, the case must 13 be remanded to state court. § 1447(c); cf. § 1447(d) (“An order remanding a case to the 14 State court from which it was removed is not reviewable on appeal or otherwise”). Given 15 the plaintiff’s initial choice of forum and limited federal court jurisdiction, the removing 16 party must overcome the presumption that the federal court is without jurisdiction. See 17 Hunter v. Philip Morris USA, 582 F.3d 1039, 1042 (9th Cir. 2009). All ambiguity is 18 interpreted “in favor of remand” to state court. Moore-Thomas v. Alaska Airlines, Inc., 19 553 F.3d 1241, 1244 (9th Cir. 2009); accord Hunter, 582 F.3d at 1042 (quoting Gaus v.
20 Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir. 1992) (per curiam)). Where a court is satisfied as 21 to its own jurisdiction, however, it has a “‘virtually unflagging obligation’ to exercise the 22 jurisdiction conferred upon [it] by the coordinate branches of government and duly 23 invoked by litigants.” Williams v. Costco Wholesale Corp., 471 F.3d 975, 977 (9th Cir.
24 2006) (per curiam) (alteration in original) (quoting United States v. Rubenstein, 971 F.2d 25 288, 293 (9th Cir. 1992) (internal citation omitted)).

26 Article III of the United States Constitution sets the outer bounds of federal court 27 subject-matter jurisdiction, U.S. Const. art. III, §§ 1–2, within which Congress provides 28 specific grants of jurisdiction, Hertz Corp. v. Friend, 559 U.S. 77, 84 (2010). Diversity

1 jurisdiction, 28 U.S.C. § 1332 (2012), and federal question jurisdiction, § 1331, bear on 2 this case.

3 III. Discussion

4 A. Diversity Jurisdiction

5 This Court has subject-matter jurisdiction where the parties are of diverse 6 citizenship and where the alleged amount-in-controversy is over $75,000. § 1332; cf.
7 U.S. Const. art. III, § 2. Section 1332 requires complete diversity, meaning that all 8 plaintiffs must be of diverse citizenship from all defendants. § 1332. An individual is a 9 citizen where domiciled. Lew v. Moss, 797 F.2d 747, 749 (9th Cir. 1986). A corporation 10 is a citizen where it is incorporated and where it has its principal place of business.
11 § 1332(c)(1). A corporation's principal place of business is its "nerve center," where it 12 directs corporate activities. Hertz, 559 U.S. at 93–95. A limited liability company 13 ("LLC") is a citizen where its members and owners are citizens. Johnson v. Columbia 14 Props. Anchorage, LP, 437 F.3d 894, 899 (9th Cir. 2006).

15 The parties are not completely diverse. All parties are LLCs. Plaintiff's sole 16 member is an individual domiciled in California. (Doc. 28.) Defendant Honda's sole 17 member is a corporation incorporated, with its principal place of business, in California.
18 (Id.) Defendant Cutter's sole member is a corporation incorporated, with its principal 19 place of business, in Arizona. (Id.) Therefore, there is no diversity jurisdiction.

20 Furthermore, this action would not be removable on diversity grounds, even if 21 there were diversity, because the action was brought in Arizona, where Defendant Cutter 22 is a citizen. See § 1441(b)(2) (barring removal on the basis of diversity jurisdiction 23 where any defendant is a citizen of the state where the action was initiated).

24 B. Federal Question Jurisdiction

25 Federal question jurisdiction exists for civil claims "arising under the Constitution, 26 laws, or treaties of the United States." § 1331; see U.S. Const. art. III, § 2. Generally, for 27 a claim to "arise under" federal law, it must be apparent from the face of the plaintiff's 28 well-pleaded complaint that a federal element is essential to the plaintiff's cause of

1 action. Gully v. First Nat'l Bank, 299 U.S. 109, 112–13 (1936); see Louisville &
2 Nashville R.R. Co. v. Mottley, 211 U.S. 149, 152 (1908). Most often, this occurs when a 3 plaintiff states a federal cause of action. Merrell Dow Pharm. Inc. v. Thompson, 478 U.S.
4 804, 808–09 (1986). Under this rule, federal question jurisdiction cannot be sustained by 5 a federal element that is raised in anticipation of a defense, Mottley, 211 U.S. at 152, 6 asserted in a defense, id., or present in a counterclaim, Holmes Grp., Inc. v. Vornado Air 7 Circulation Sys., Inc., 535 U.S. 826, 831–32 (2002). This rule “makes the plaintiff the 8 master of the claim; he or she may avoid federal jurisdiction by exclusive reliance on 9 state law.” Caterpillar Inc. v. Williams, 482 U.S. 386, 392 (1987).

10 A plaintiff’s exclusive reliance on state law, however, must be substantively 11 sound, rather than artfully created. Under the artful pleading doctrine, a plaintiff cannot 12 avoid federal jurisdiction by failing to plead a necessary federal element. Rivet v.
13 Regions Bank of La., 522 U.S. 470, 475–76 (1998). Thus, a federal court will have 14 federal question jurisdiction where federal law completely preempts state law, id., or 15 where a state law claim satisfies the well-pleaded complaint rule and implicates 16 significant federal issues, Franchise Tax Bd. v. Constr. Laborers Vacation Tr., 463 U.S.
17 1, 13 (1983), superseded by statute on other grounds, 28 U.S.C. § 1441(e) (2012); Cal.
18 Shock Trauma Air Rescue v. State Comp. Ins. Fund, 636 F.3d 538, 542 (9th Cir. 2011).

19 The parties agree that all of Plaintiff’s claims, except for one, are state law claims 20 not arising under federal law. See (Docs. 1, 18–19, 22.) The single disputed claim reads:
21 “The contract at issue in this case is in violation of federal and state antitrust and unfair 22 trade practices law, which render the contract void.” (Doc. 1-2 at 7) (emphasis added).
23 Elsewhere in the Complaint, Plaintiff elaborates that the contract conditions are “illegal 24 restraints of trade whereby” Defendant Honda “proposes illegal tying arrangements, 25 illegal attempts to monopolize, and, contrary to the requirements of Federal Air 26 Regulations and U.S. certification requirements, HondaJet proposes illegally to restrict 27 the dissemination of continued airworthiness documents and other specifications required 28 to maintain the airworthiness of the aircraft.” (Id.)

1 Defendants allege that Plaintiff is expressly asserting a federal claim by using the 2 word “federal” in connection with the antitrust and unfair trade practices claims. (Doc. 1 3 at 2–3; Doc. 19 at 2.) In contrast, Plaintiff avers that the claims reference federal law
4 only to clarify North Carolina statutory law and do not assert independent federal causes 5 of action. (Doc. 18 at 1–2.) Defendants contend that this later disavowal of intent to 6 bring a federal claim cannot be used to interpret the Complaint. (Doc. 19 at 2–3.)

7 The face of Plaintiff’s Complaint does not set forth a federal cause of action.<sup>2</sup> 8 Generally, where there is no underlying federal cause of action, express reference to 9 federal law does not sustain federal question jurisdiction. See Rains v. Criterion Sys.,
10 Inc., 80 F.3d 339, 343–44 (9th Cir. 1996). In Rains, the court held that there was no 11 federal question jurisdiction, despite the plaintiff’s explicit references to Title VII in 12 connection with his wrongful discharge in violation of public policy and tortious 13 interference with contract claims, because there were no federal causes of action for those

15 <sup>2</sup> This Court need not reach the issue of whether, in evaluating federal question 16 jurisdiction, it can consider a plaintiff’s post-complaint disclaimer of intent to bring 17 federal claims. This remains an open question. Many courts do consider these 18 statements. See Lippitt v. Raymond James Fin. Servs., Inc., 340 F.3d 1033, 1040, 1046
19 (9th Cir. 2003) (considering without reconciling with the well-pleaded complaint rule); 20 Garduno v. Nat’l Bank of Ariz., 738 F. Supp. 2d 1004, 1009 (D. Ariz. 2010); Hanson v.
21 U.S. Air Cargo, LLC, No. 3:07-cv-353 (JCH), 2008 WL 4722594, at *2 (D. Conn. Oct.
22 15, 2008); Christiason v. Merit Tex. Props., L.L.C., 393 F. Supp. 2d 435, 437–38 (N.D.
23 Tex. 2005); Jenkins v. Bd. of Educ., No. 03 C 7428, 2004 WL 783355, at *1–2 (N.D. Ill.
24 Jan. 16, 2004); Hillard v. Kaiser Found. Health Plan of the Mid-Atl. States, Inc., 169 F.
25 Supp. 2d 416, 418–19 (D. Md. 2001); see also Zivanic v. Wash. Mut. Bank, F.A., No. 10-26 737 SC, 2010 WL 1875732, at *3 (N.D. Cal. May 7, 2010) (suggesting that it would have 27 allowed the plaintiff to disavow reliance on federal law in a reply brief); McPhail v. Wal-
28 Mart Stores, Inc., No. 03-1010-WEB, 2003 WL 1750886, at *3 (D. Kan. Mar. 27, 2003) (noting that the plaintiff’s statements in her reply brief which disavowed reliance on federal law did not conflict with the face of the complaint); cf. Bell v. Township of Quinton, No. 14-1789 (NLH/KMW), 2014 WL 7205336, at *2 n.1 (D.N.J. Dec. 17, 2014) (considering the plaintiff’s post-complaint admission that the complaint alleged a federal question). Many, however, do not. See Vera v. Saks & Co., 335 F.3d 109, 116 n.2 (2d Cir. 2003); Smith v. Newberry Twp. Police Dep’t, No. 1:CV-13-3018, 2014 WL 2471665, at *2 (M.D. Pa. May 30, 2014); Alpha Fin. Mortg., Inc. v. Baugh, No. 09-814, 2009 WL 3681858, at *4 n.4 (W.D. Pa. Nov. 3, 2009); Barash v. Ford Motor Credit
Corp., No. 06-cv-6497 (JFB) (ARL), 2007 WL 1791656, at *4 n.9 (E.D.N.Y. June 20, 2007); see also Brant v. Shea Mortg. Inc., No. 2:10-cv-00829-KJD-RJJ, 2011 WL 1300360, at *2–3 (D. Nev. Mar. 30, 2011) (acknowledging the plaintiff’s subsequent disclaimer, but looking solely to the complaint to find federal question jurisdiction); Nat’l
Credit Reporting Ass’n, Inc. v. Experian Info. Sols., Inc., No. C04-01661 WHA, 2004 WL 1888769, at *3–5 (N.D. Cal. July 21, 2004) (disregarding oral argument that conflicted with the face of the complaint).

1 claims. Id. at 343 & n.2. Similarly, in this case, there is no private right of action under 2 federal unfair trade practices law. See Carlson v. Coca-Cola Co., 483 F.2d 279, 280 (9th 3 Cir. 1973); see also 15 U.S.C. § 45 (2012). The absence of a private right of action
4 defeats the possibility that Plaintiff is making a federal claim with regard to one of two 5 conjunctive claims. This uncertainty corrupts the logical structure of the sentence and 6 makes unclear the meaning of the word “federal.” Federal could solely be modifying 7 antitrust, stating a federal cause of action. Alternatively, federal could be modifying both 8 antitrust and unfair trade practices, suggesting reference to violations of federal law to 9 clarify state law causes of action. Ambiguity is decided against removal; therefore, 10 Plaintiff has not asserted a federal cause of action. Furthermore, non-essential references 11 to federal law to interpret state law do not implicate substantial questions of federal law.
12 Rains, 80 F.3d at 344. Finally, Defendants have not alleged, and this Court does not find, 13 that Congress has completely preempted state antitrust and unfair trade practices law.

14 Therefore, there is no federal question jurisdiction, because Plaintiff’s claims do 15 not set forth a federal cause of action, do not implicate substantial questions of federal 16 law, and are not completely preempted. Because this Court is without subject-matter 17 jurisdiction, it does not reach Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss and the case must be 18 remanded to state court.
